Division 2—Guide to this Act

3 Guide to this Act

Overview

This Act is about promoting the development and adoption of products to reduce energy use and greenhouse gas production (see the objects in Division 3 of this Part).

This is achieved by applying greenhouse and energy minimum standards (GEMS) in association with the supply and commercial use of products that use energy, or affect the energy used by another product. These standards are provided for by requirements in Ministerial determinations (GEMS determinations).

Key concepts (Part 2)

The key concepts used in this Act are unfolded in Part 2. These include GEMS products, GEMS determinations, models of GEMS products, registration of models against GEMS determinations, and supplying (or offering to supply) GEMS products.

Supply and commercial use of products (Part 3)

Generally speaking, a product (a GEMS product) covered by a GEMS determination can only be supplied or offered for supply, or used for a commercial purpose, if:

- (a) the model of the product is registered under this Act against the determination; and
- (b) the product complies with the determination; and
- (c) the supply, offer or use complies with the determination.

Contravention of these rules may result in prosecution for offences or exposure to liability for civil penalties.

Section 3

GEMS determinations and registration (Parts 4, 5 and 6)

GEMS determinations cover different product classes. They specify requirements for energy consumption, greenhouse gas production, labelling and some other matters, including the environment and human health.

Generally speaking, all models of GEMS products must be registered on the GEMS Register to make sure they comply with relevant GEMS determinations. A senior officer of the Department (the GEMS Regulator) is responsible for the registration system and, more broadly, the administration of this Act.

Monitoring, investigation and enforcement (Parts 7 and 8)

GEMS inspectors may enter public areas of premises used in connection with the supply of GEMS products. GEMS inspectors may purchase GEMS products there (and exercise certain other powers) in order to investigate compliance with this Act.

GEMS inspectors and the GEMS Regulator have powers to monitor compliance with this Act, to monitor whether information given under this Act is correct and to investigate suspected non-compliance with this Act. Infringement notices may be issued for suspected contraventions of civil penalty provisions of this Act. Enforceable undertakings and injunctions may be used to enforce compliance with this Act.

Details of offences, contraventions and adverse decisions, including the names of those involved, may also be publicised.

Merits review and protection of information (Parts 9 and 10)

Decisions about registration may be reviewed internally and by the Administrative Appeals Tribunal. The Act also protects commercially sensitive information against unauthorised disclosure.

Introductory matters (Part 1)

There is a Dictionary in Division 4 of this Part. The Dictionary is a list of every term that is defined in this Act. A term is either defined in the Dictionary itself, or elsewhere in this Act. If a term is defined elsewhere, the Dictionary includes a signpost.

The application of this Act to the Crown and in the external Territories is dealt with in Division 5 of this Part. That Division also sets out the constitutional application of this Act and provides for when this Act is intended to operate concurrently with State and Territory laws.

Part 2—Key concepts

Division 1—Guide to this Part

10 Guide to this Part

This Part is about some of the key concepts used in this Act, and the inter-relationships between those concepts.

This Act applies to GEMS products, which are products that use energy, or affect the amount of energy used by another product, and belong to a product class for which a GEMS determination has been made (under Part 4).

GEMS products may be determined to be category A products or category B products. Category B products have a higher impact on energy use or greenhouse gas production than category A products. Different penalty levels apply to contraventions of the main rules about supply and use of GEMS products in Part 3, depending on the category of the product.

GEMS products belong to a particular model if they have the same technical specifications, brand name (or manufacturer) and a unique identifier. Generally speaking, all models of GEMS products must be registered under Part 5 (in the GEMS Register) against GEMS determinations.

A model's registration may be affected by a replacement determination updating the GEMS determination against which the model was initially registered. This might affect whether products of the model can be supplied, or used for commercial purposes.

There is a broad concept of supply and offer to supply. This affects the application of the main rules in Division 2 of Part 3 about supplying and offering to supply GEMS products.

Division 2—Key concepts

11 GEMS products, GEMS determinations and product classes

- (1) A GEMS product is a product that:
 - (a) uses energy or affects the amount of energy used by another product; and
 - (b) is in a product class covered by a GEMS determination.
- (2) A GEMS determination is a determination made by the Minister under section 23 that:
 - (a) specifies one or more classes of products (product classes) that it covers; and
 - (b) specifies requirements for products in those product classes in accordance with Part 4.

Note 1: For paragraph (a), a class of products may be specified by reference to a range of matters, including:

- (a) the function the products perform; and
- (b) the materials from which the products are manufactured; and
- (c) the size or capacity of the products; and
- (d) whether the products contain a particular feature (for example a screen or monitor) or are capable of operating in different modes (for example in standby mode).

Note 2: For when a GEMS determination is in force, see sections 34 and 35.

- (3) A single product may be in more than one product class (whether or not specified in the same GEMS determination).

Note: If a single product is in more than one product class, the product must comply with requirements under this Act for each of those product classes.

For example, a product that operates both as a washing machine and as a clothes dryer would need to comply with separate requirements for washing machines (where washing machines are a product class) and clothes dryers (where clothes dryers are a product class).

- (4) A GEMS product in a product class covered by a GEMS determination is either a category A product or a category B product for that product class, as specified in the determination (see section 29).

Note: Different penalty levels apply for certain offences under this Act, depending on whether a product is a category A product or a category B product for a product class.

- (5) A replacement determination is a GEMS determination made in accordance with section 35 that specifies that it replaces another GEMS determination (a revoked determination).

12 Models of GEMS products to be registered in relation to product classes

- (1) A model of a GEMS product in a particular product class must be registered under Part 5 in relation to that product class, unless the model is exempt from registration in relation to that product class as specified in a GEMS determination (see section 30).

Note 1: If the model is in more than one product class, the model will need to be registered under Part 5 in relation to each of those product classes.

Note 2: Offences apply in relation to supplying a GEMS product, or using a GEMS product for a commercial purpose, if the model of the product is not registered (see Part 3).

- (2) Two or more GEMS products are of the same model if, and only if:
- (a) the products have the same technical specifications, in so far as those specifications relate to the extent to which the products comply with the requirements of this Act; and
 - (b) either:
 - (i) there is a single brand or trade mark used in supplying or offering to supply the products; or
 - (ii) if there is no such brand or trade mark—the products have the same manufacturer; and
 - (c) there is a single unique identifier (the model identifier) used in supplying or offering to supply the products, or manufacturing the products, to identify the products as being of that model.

Note 1: The expression this Act has an extended meaning (see the Dictionary in section 5).

Section 13

Note 2: A model may be registered in relation to a product class even if there is only one product of that model (see subsection 41(2)).

- (3) A single registration may cover 2 or more models in relation to a product class only if those models are in the same family of models in accordance with the GEMS determination for that product class (see section 28).
- (4) A model cannot be covered by more than one registration in relation to a particular product class.

13 Models to be registered against GEMS determinations

- (1) Under Part 5, a model of a GEMS product is registered against a GEMS determination in relation to a product class.
- (2) The GEMS determination against which the model is registered in relation to the product class is either:
 - (a) the GEMS determination against which the model is registered under section 43 (registration by the GEMS Regulator); or
 - (b) a replacement determination against which the model is taken to be registered because of subsection 36(2) (registration not affected by replacement determination).
- (3) A model's registration in relation to a product class is, or is not, affected by a replacement determination as specified in the replacement determination (see section 36).

Note: If a model's registration is affected by a replacement determination:

- (a) the registration will cease to be in force under section 48 on the day the replacement determination comes into force; and
- (b) products of the model imported into, or manufactured in, Australia after the replacement determination comes into force might not be able to be supplied, or used for a commercial purpose, unless the model is registered against the replacement determination (see Part 3).

14 Supplying and offering to supply GEMS products

- (1) A supply of a GEMS product includes a supply of the product by way of sale, exchange, gift, lease, loan, hire or hire-purchase.
- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), it is irrelevant whether the supply is:
 - (a) for consideration; or
 - (b) a wholesale or retail supply.

Note: Offences under this Act relating to supplying, or offering to supply, GEMS products do not apply in relation to second-hand products.

- (3) Offer to supply a GEMS product includes make available, expose, display or advertise the product for supply.

Part 3—Requirements for suppliers and commercial users of GEMS products

Division 1—Guide to this Part

15 Guide to this Part

This Part sets out the main rules that govern supplying and offering to supply GEMS products and using GEMS products for commercial purposes.

Division 2 permits a GEMS product to be supplied or offered for supply only if certain GEMS determination requirements and registration requirements have been complied with.

Division 3 permits a GEMS product to be used for a commercial purpose only if certain GEMS determination requirements and registration requirements have been complied with.

Generally speaking, a product imported into, or manufactured in, Australia before the relevant GEMS determination comes into force may continue indefinitely to be supplied (or offered for supply), or used for a commercial purpose, without complying with the requirements of the GEMS determination or being registered against it (unless there is a limited grandfathering period (see section 31)).

The rules in Division 2 governing supplying, and offering to supply, GEMS products do not apply to second-hand products. The rules in Division 3 governing use of GEMS products for commercial purposes do not apply to products supplied to the user in Australia.

A particular model of a GEMS product may be exempt (under section 37) from particular requirements of GEMS determinations on certain conditions. In addition, models of products in a particular product class may be exempt (under section 30) from registration requirements in relation to that product class.

A particular use of a GEMS product may also be exempt from the application of the rules in Division 3 if it is personal use, for testing purposes or is prescribed by the regulations (see section 20).

Contravening the rules in Division 2 or 3 may result in prosecution for offences or exposure to liability for civil penalties. All offences are strict liability. Different penalties apply depending on whether the relevant GEMS product is a category A or a category B product.

Division 2—Supplying GEMS products

16 Supplying GEMS products—complying with GEMS determinations

- (1) A person must not supply, or offer to supply, a GEMS product if:
 - (a) the product is in a product class covered by a GEMS determination; and
 - (b) either or both of the following apply:
 - (i) the product does not comply with a requirement of the GEMS determination;
 - (ii) a requirement of the GEMS determination is not complied with in supplying, or offering to supply, the product.
- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply if:
 - (a) the product is a second-hand product at the time of the supply or offer; or
 - (b) the following conditions are satisfied:
 - (i) the model of the product is exempt under section 37 from the requirement;
 - (ii) any conditions of the exemption (see subsection 37(2)) are complied with in connection with the supply or offer; or
 - (c) the following conditions are satisfied:
 - (i) the product is imported into, or the product's last process of manufacture is performed in, Australia at a time (the earlier time) before the GEMS determination comes into force;
 - (ii) if there is a limited grandfathering period under the GEMS determination for the product class (see section 31)—the supply or offer occurs before the end of that period;

- (iii) all transitional GEMS labelling requirements of the GEMS determination are complied with in supplying or offering to supply the product;
- (iv) the product currently complies with any pre-existing GEMS determination that was in force at the earlier time;
- (v) if there was no such pre-existing GEMS determination—the supply of the product (or an offer to supply the product) in a State or Territory at the earlier time would not have contravened a law of the State or Territory relating to energy use by products, or greenhouse gases resulting from operating products.

Strict liability offence—category A products

- (3) A person commits an offence of strict liability if the person contravenes subsection (1) and the product is a category A product for the product class.

Penalty: 60 penalty units.

Note 1: For offences of strict liability, see subsection 6.1(1) of the Criminal Code.

Note 2: See subsection (7) (evidential burden for matters in subsection (2)).

- (c) a use specified in regulations made for the purposes of this paragraph.

Part 4—GEMS determinations

Division 1—Guide to this Part

22 Guide to this Part

This Part is about how GEMS determinations are made, and the requirements (GEMS requirements) which are imposed by the determinations.

Division 2 provides for GEMS determinations to be made by Ministerial determination, subject to the consent of a certain number of States and Territories to the making and replacement of GEMS determinations.

GEMS determinations must contain requirements relating to energy use or greenhouse gas production (GEMS level requirements) or requirements about labelling (GEMS labelling requirements). They may also contain other requirements relating to efficiency levels, performance, the environment and human health.

Division 3 provides for GEMS determinations to be updated by replacement determinations. Replacement determinations must specify whether they affect the registration of models of GEMS products.

If a replacement determination affects a model's registration, the registration ceases to be in force under Part 5 from the time the replacement determination comes into force. This might affect a person's ability to supply or use for a commercial purpose products of the model imported into, or manufactured in, Australia after that time (see Part 3).

If a replacement determination does not affect a model's registration, the model is taken to continue to be registered against the replacement determination, and may continue to be supplied (or offered for supply) and used for commercial purposes relying on that registration.

Division 4 allows product models to be exempted from requirements of GEMS determinations.

Division 2—Making GEMS determinations

23 Minister may make GEMS determinations

- (1) The Minister may, by legislative instrument, make a determination that specifies one or more classes of products that it covers, if the products in those classes:

- (a) use energy; or
- (b) affect the amount of energy used by other products.

Note: A determination under this subsection is referred to in this Act as a GEMS determination and classes of product covered by GEMS determinations are referred to as product classes (see section 11).

- (2) A GEMS determination may specify one or more classes of product that are not covered by the determination.

24 GEMS requirements—general

- (1) A GEMS determination must specify either or both of the following for each product class covered by the determination:
- (a) GEMS level requirements in accordance with section 25;
 - (b) GEMS labelling requirements in accordance with section 26.
- (2) A GEMS determination may also specify other requirements, in accordance with section 27, for a product class covered by the determination.

Note: Offences apply in relation to supplying a GEMS product, or using a GEMS product for a commercial purpose, if requirements of a GEMS determination are not complied with (see Part 3).

25 GEMS requirements—GEMS level requirements

The GEMS level requirements for a product class are as follows:

- (a) requirements relating to one or more of the following:
 - (i) the amount of energy used by operating products in that product class;

- (ii) the amount of greenhouse gases resulting from operating products in that product class;
 - (iii) the effect of those products on the amount of energy used by operating other products;
- (b) requirements for conducting tests in relation to products in that product class, using the methods specified in the determination, in order to determine whether products in that product class meet the requirements referred to in paragraph (a).

26 GEMS requirements—GEMS labelling requirements

- (1) The GEMS labelling requirements for a product class are as follows:
 - (a) requirements relating to the information that must be communicated in connection with supplying or offering to supply products in that product class (see subsection (2));
 - (b) requirements relating to the manner in which that information must be communicated (see subsection (2));
 - (c) requirements for conducting tests in relation to products in that product class, using the methods specified in the determination, in order to rate them against criteria specified for the product class in the determination for the purposes of complying with a requirement under paragraph (a).
- Note: Requirements under paragraph (a) or (b) may relate, for example, to one or more of the following:
- (a) the characteristics, contents, placement and quality of labels or marks attached or applied to products or displayed on packaging for products;
 - (b) documents or other material used for, or provided in connection with, the supply of products;
 - (c) advertising products.
- (2) A requirement may only be specified under paragraph (1)(a) or (b) in relation to a product class for the purpose of:
 - (a) ensuring that products in that product class can be compared with other products in relation to a matter that is, or could be, the subject of a requirement of the GEMS determination for that product class; or

Section 27

- (b) assisting with monitoring compliance with this Act; or
- (c) providing a transition to regulation of products in the product class under the GEMS determination (including because the products were not previously covered by a GEMS determination or because the GEMS determination is a replacement determination).

Note 1: The expression this Act has an extended meaning (see the Dictionary in section 5).

Note 2: A requirement specified for the purpose of paragraph (2)(c) is a transitional GEMS labelling requirement.

27 GEMS requirements—other requirements

- (1) A GEMS determination may specify any or all of the following for any one or more product classes covered by the determination:
 - (a) requirements for products in that product class to meet a specified level (the high efficiency level) at a particular time (see subsection (2));
 - (b) requirements relating to the performance of products in that product class (see subsection (3));
 - (c) requirements relating to the impact of products in that product class on the environment or the health of human beings (see subsection (3));
 - (d) requirements of a kind specified in the regulations for the purposes of this paragraph;
 - (e) requirements for conducting tests in relation to products in that product class, using the methods specified in the determination, in relation to a requirement mentioned in paragraph (a), (b), (c) or (d).
- (2) The requirements referred to in paragraph (1)(a) (high efficiency level) must relate to one or more of the following:
 - (a) the amount of energy used by operating products in that product class;

- (b) the amount of greenhouse gases resulting from operating products in that product class;
 - (c) the effect of those products on the amount of energy used by operating other products that use energy.
- (3) Requirements may only be specified in relation to a product class under paragraph (1)(b) (product performance) or (c) (impact of products on environment or human health) if the GEMS determination also specifies GEMS level requirements for the product class.

28 GEMS determinations—families of models

A GEMS determination must specify, for each product class covered by the determination, the circumstances in which 2 or more models in that product class are in the same family of models.

Note: See also subsection 12(3) (registration may cover 2 or more models only if those models are a family of models).

29 GEMS determinations—category A and category B products

- (1) A GEMS determination must specify, for each product class covered by the determination, whether products in that product class are category A products or category B products.

Note: Different penalty levels apply for certain offences under this Act, depending on whether a product is a category A product or a category B product for a product class.

- (2) Before specifying that products in a product class are category B products, the Minister must be satisfied that products in that class have a high impact on energy use or greenhouse gas production.

30 GEMS determinations—models exempt from registration

A GEMS determination may specify, for a product class covered by the determination, that models of products in that product class are exempt from registration under Part 5 in relation to that product class.

Section 31

Note: See subsection 12(1) for the requirement for models of GEMS products to be registered under Part 5.

31 GEMS determinations—limited grandfathering period

- (1) A GEMS determination may specify, for a product class covered by the determination, a limited grandfathering period for products in the product class.
- (2) The limited grandfathering period:
 - (a) starts when the GEMS determination comes into force; and
 - (b) ends at a time specified in the GEMS determination.

Note: The effect of specifying a limited grandfathering period is that a product in the product class imported into, or whose last process of manufacture is performed in, Australia before the GEMS determination comes into force might not be able to be supplied or used for a commercial purpose after the end of that period unless:

- (a) the product complies with the GEMS determination; and
- (b) the model of the product is registered against the GEMS determination.

32 GEMS determinations—not to give preference

The Minister must not make a GEMS determination that has the effect of giving preference (within the meaning of section 99 of the Constitution) to one State or part of a State over another State or part of a State.

33 GEMS determinations—consent of participating jurisdictions

- (1) Before making a GEMS determination, the Minister must obtain consent to the terms of the determination:
 - (a) if a method for obtaining the consent of participating jurisdictions is set out in the agreement (or agreements) referred to in subsection (3)—in accordance with that method; or
 - (b) in any other case—from at least two-thirds of the participating jurisdictions.

Note: For an exception to this rule, see subsection 36(3).

- (2) The Commonwealth is a participating jurisdiction for the purposes of this Act.
- (3) A State or Territory is a participating jurisdiction at a particular time for the purposes of this Act if:
 - (a) the Commonwealth has agreed with the State or Territory that the State or Territory will be a participating jurisdiction for the purposes of this Act; and
 - (b) the State or Territory remains a participating jurisdiction for the purposes of this Act at that time, in accordance with the agreement.

34 GEMS determinations—when a GEMS determination comes into force

A GEMS determination comes into force:

- (a) 12 months after the day it is made; or
- (b) if the determination specifies that it comes into force on another day that is after the day the determination is made—on that other day.

Note: Product classes specified in the GEMS determination will be covered by it from the time it comes into force.

Division 3—Replacing GEMS determinations

35 Replacing GEMS determinations

Making replacement determinations

- (1) The Minister may:
- (a) by legislative instrument, revoke a GEMS determination (a revoked determination) that covers one or more product classes; and
 - (b) make another GEMS determination in accordance with Division 2 that specifies that it replaces the revoked determination.

Note: A GEMS determination made as referred to in paragraph (b) is referred to in this Act as a replacement determination (see section 11).

- (2) The revoked determination ceases to be in force immediately before the replacement determination comes into force.

Note 1: For when a GEMS determination comes into force, see section 34.

Note 2: Product classes specified in the revoked determination will cease to be covered by it from the time it ceases to be in force.

Revoking GEMS determination without making replacement determination

- (3) The Minister may, by legislative instrument, revoke a GEMS determination without making a replacement determination, but only if the Minister has obtained consent to the revocation:
- (a) if a method for obtaining the consent of participating jurisdictions is set out in the agreement (or agreements) referred to in paragraph 33(3)(a)—in accordance with that method; or
 - (b) in any other case—from at least two-thirds of the participating jurisdictions.

- (4) A GEMS determination revoked under subsection (3) ceases to be in force at the time specified in the instrument of revocation.

Note: Product classes specified in the GEMS determination will cease to be covered by it from the time it ceases to be in force.

No other power to vary or revoke GEMS determination

- (5) Subsection 33(3) of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 (which deals with the variation and revocation of instruments) does not apply in relation to a GEMS determination.

36 Whether registrations affected by replacement determination

- (1) A replacement determination must specify whichever of the following applies in relation to the registrations of models in product classes that were covered by the revoked determination:
- (a) that the replacement determination affects the registration of all models registered against the revoked determination in relation to all of those product classes;
 - (b) that the replacement determination affects the registration of specified models registered against the revoked determination in relation to one or more of those product classes;
 - (c) that the replacement determination does not affect the registration of any model registered against the revoked determination in relation to any of those product classes.
- (2) If the replacement determination does not affect the registration of a particular model in relation to a product class, the model is taken to be registered against the replacement determination in relation to that product class.

Note: This subsection does not affect when the registration ceases to be in force under subsection 48(2).

- (3) Subsection 33(1) (consent of participating jurisdictions to terms of GEMS determination) does not apply in relation to the replacement determination if:

Part 4 GEMS determinations

Division 3 Replacing GEMS determinations

Section 36

- (a) the determination does not affect the registration of any model in relation to any of those product classes; and
- (b) the product class or classes covered by the replacement determination are the same as those that were covered by the revoked determination.

Division 4—Exempting models from requirements of GEMS determinations

37 Exempting models from requirements of GEMS determinations

- (1) The GEMS Regulator may, by legislative instrument, in accordance with regulations (if any) made for the purposes of this subsection, exempt a specified model of a GEMS product from one or more requirements of a GEMS determination in relation to all or specified supplies or uses of products of that model.

Note: Models covered by exemptions must still be registered under Part 5.

- (2) The exemption may specify conditions to which the exemption is subject, including the following:
- (a) a condition that products of that model be labelled in a specified way in connection with a specified supply;
 - (b) a condition relating to the supply or commercial use of products of that model.

Example: For paragraph (b), a condition that a supplier be satisfied, before supplying a product of the model, that the product will only be used for a particular purpose.

- (3) A person must comply with a condition of an exemption to the extent that it applies to the person.
- (4) Regulations made for the purposes of subsection (1) may (without limitation) provide for or in relation to the following:
- (a) exemptions to be made only on application by specified persons;
 - (b) the manner and form of such an application;
 - (c) the documentation or other information, and any fee, that must accompany such an application;
 - (d) giving further documentation or information to the GEMS Regulator for the purposes of determining such an application;

Part 4 GEMS determinations

Division 4 Exempting models from requirements of GEMS determinations

Section 37

- (e) matters to which the GEMS Regulator may or must have regard in exempting a model under subsection (1) or specifying a condition under subsection (2).
- (5) The GEMS Regulator must not make an exemption that has the effect of giving preference (within the meaning of section 99 of the Constitution) to one State or part of a State over another State or part of a State.

Part 5—Registering models of GEMS products

Division 1—Guide to this Part

38 Guide to this Part

This Part is about registering models of GEMS products on the GEMS Register against GEMS determinations.

Division 2 establishes the GEMS Register and sets out what information is to be contained in the register.

Division 3 is about how models of GEMS products are registered. A manufacturer or importer of a model of a product in Australia, or someone else connected to the supply of the model in Australia, may apply for registration. To be registered against a GEMS determination, the model must comply with the requirements of the determination.

Division 4 is about how registrations may be varied to cover additional models, or to record a change in the identity of the registrant.

Division 5 is about when a registration comes into force, and when it ceases to be in force. Generally, registrations last for 5 years.

Division 6 is about suspending and cancelling registrations. This may happen, for example, if inaccurate information is given with an application, or the model or the registrant does not comply with this Act.

Division 7 sets out a number of requirements for registrants, including requirements to give information and to have products tested.

Part 5 Registering models of GEMS products

Division 1 Guide to this Part

Section 38

Division 8 deals with a variety of matters, including determining when a model complies with a GEMS determination, making and determining applications and notifying applicants of decisions.

Division 2—GEMS Register

39 Establishment of GEMS Register

- (1) The GEMS Regulator must establish and maintain a register to be known as the GEMS Register.
- (2) The GEMS Regulator may keep the GEMS Register in any form that he or she considers appropriate.
- (3) The GEMS Regulator may publish on the internet part or all of the GEMS Register.
- (4) The regulations may specify information contained in the GEMS Register that must be published under subsection (3).

40 Information to be entered in GEMS Register

Information that must be entered in GEMS Register

- (1) The following information must be entered in the GEMS Register for each registration of a model or models of GEMS products in relation to a product class:
 - (a) the product class;
 - (b) the day the registration comes into force;
 - (c) the day the registration ceases to be in force;
 - (d) a unique identifier for the registration;
 - (e) the model identifier for each model covered by the registration;
 - (f) the brand or trade mark (if any) used in connection with supplies of those models;
 - (g) the names, with the contact details referred to in subsection 42(2), of the registrant and contact person (or persons) in relation to the registration;
 - (h) whether the registration is suspended;

Section 40

- (i) details to identify the relevant GEMS determination against which the model was registered as referred to in subsection 43(1), including the day the determination was made;
- (j) if the model is taken to be registered against a replacement determination in accordance with subsection 36(2)—that fact and details to identify the replacement determination, including the day the replacement determination was made;
- (k) if the model’s registration is affected by a replacement determination—that fact and details to identify the replacement determination, including the day the replacement determination was made;
- (l) any information specified in the regulations in relation to that product class.

Other information that may be entered in GEMS Register

- (2) The GEMS Regulator may enter in the GEMS Register any other information he or she considers appropriate.

Varying information in the GEMS Register

- (3) The GEMS Regulator must vary information contained in the GEMS Register as soon as practicable after becoming aware that the information is no longer correct.

Division 3—Registering models of GEMS products

41 Registration on application

- (1) A person may apply to the GEMS Regulator to register in relation to a product class:
 - (a) a single model of GEMS products, specified in the application; or
 - (b) 2 or more models of GEMS products, specified in the application, that are in the same family of models.

Note 1: See section 43 for when the GEMS Regulator may register the model or models.

Note 2: Under subsection 43(3), the applicant must have an appropriate connection to the supply of the model in Australia (for example as an importer or manufacturer).

- (2) To avoid doubt, a person may apply to register a model even if there is only one product of that model.

42 Application requirements—contact persons and contact details

Contact persons

- (1) The application must contain the name of one or more contact persons for the registration who meet the requirements specified in the regulations for the purposes of this subsection.

Note: The registrant is taken to have been given a notice under this Act if the notice is given to a contact person for the registration (see section 68).

Example: The regulations might specify a requirement that a contact person be one or more of the following:

- (a) an individual;
- (b) an officer or employee of the applicant;
- (c) a person whom the GEMS Regulator is satisfied has an appropriate connection to the supply of the model in Australia.

Section 43

Contact details

- (2) The application must contain the contact details specified in the regulations for the applicant and contact person (or persons).

Note: For additional requirements relating to applications, see section 64.

43 Registration by the GEMS Regulator

- (1) The GEMS regulator must, on application under section 41, register the model, in relation to the product class, against the relevant GEMS determination for that product class (see section 44), unless subsection (2), (3) or (4) of this section applies.

Note 1: If a replacement determination is made that covers the model but does not affect the model's registration in relation to the product class, the model is taken to be registered against the replacement determination (see subsection 36(2)).

Note 2: For notice of decisions on applications under this Part, see section 67.

- (2) The GEMS Regulator must refuse to register a model in relation to a product class if he or she is not satisfied that:
- (a) the model complies with the requirements of the relevant GEMS determination referred to in section 44 for that product class; or
 - (b) if the application is to register 2 or more models that include the model—those models are in the same family of models.

Note: Generally the GEMS determination referred to in paragraph (a) will be the GEMS determination that covers that product class, as in force at the time of making the decision on the application.

- (3) The GEMS Regulator must refuse to register a model in relation to a product class if he or she is not satisfied that:
- (a) at least one of the following applies:
 - (i) the applicant manufactures the model;
 - (ii) the applicant imports the model into Australia;
 - (iii) the applicant has an appropriate connection to the supply of the model in Australia, determined in accordance with regulations made for the purposes of this paragraph (if any); or

- (b) the applicant meets all other requirements specified in regulations made for the purposes of this paragraph (if any).

Example: For paragraph (b), the regulations might require the person to be registered under a law of the Commonwealth in connection with carrying on business in Australia.

- (4) The GEMS Regulator may refuse to register a model in relation to a product class if he or she is satisfied that there are grounds for refusing the application under section 66.

44 Relevant GEMS determination with which model must comply

- (1) For the purposes of section 43, the relevant GEMS determination is the GEMS determination covering that product class that is in force at the time of making the decision on the application, unless subsection (2) or (3) applies.
- (2) If the application is made:
 - (a) after a GEMS determination (the new determination) that covers the product class is made; but
 - (b) before that determination comes into force;then, unless subsection (3) applies, the relevant GEMS determination is the new determination.

Note: The product class might not be covered by an existing GEMS determination, or the new determination might be a replacement determination.

- (3) If:
 - (a) a GEMS determination (the old determination) that covers the product class is in force at the time the application is made; and
 - (b) a replacement determination that replaces the old determination has been made but has not come into force at that time; and
 - (c) the applicant elects under subsection (4) for the application to be determined on the basis that the model complies with the requirements of the old determination for that product class;the relevant GEMS determination is the old determination.

Section 45

- (4) The applicant may make an election for the purposes of paragraph (3)(c) in the application under section 41.

45 Conditions

- (1) The GEMS Regulator may impose conditions on a model's registration in relation to a product class at any time by written notice given to the registrant.

Note: The registrant is taken to have been given a notice under this Act if the notice is given to a contact person for the registration (see section 68).

- (1A) A condition of the model's registration must be reasonably appropriate and adapted to giving effect to the purposes of this Act.

- (2) The registrant must comply with a condition of the model's registration.

Note: The model's registration may be suspended or cancelled if the registrant breaches a condition of the registration (see sections 49 and 54).

Division 4—Varying registrations

46 Varying registration to cover additional models

- (1) The registrant may apply to the GEMS Regulator to vary a model's registration in relation to a product class to cover one or more additional models of GEMS products.

Note: For requirements relating to applications, see section 64.

- (2) The GEMS Regulator must vary the registration in accordance with the application, unless subsection (3) or (4) applies.

Note: For notice of decisions on applications under this Part, see section 67.

- (3) The GEMS Regulator must refuse the application if he or she is not satisfied that the varied registration would only cover models that are in the same family of models.
- (4) The GEMS Regulator may refuse the application if he or she is satisfied that there are grounds for refusing the application under section 66.

47 Varying registration to change registrant

- (1) The registrant (the old registrant) may apply to the GEMS Regulator to vary the model's registration in relation to a product class to specify another person (the new registrant) as the registrant for the registration.

- (2) The application must be accompanied by the written consent of the new registrant.

Note: For additional requirements relating to applications, see section 64.

- (3) Section 42 (application requirements for registration) applies in relation to the application as if a reference in that section to the applicant were a reference to the new registrant.

- (4) The GEMS Regulator must vary the registration in accordance with the application, unless subsection (5) or (6) applies.

Section 47

Note: For notice of decisions on applications under this Part, see section 67.

- (5) The GEMS Regulator must refuse to vary the registration if he or she is not satisfied that:
- (a) at least one of the following applies:
 - (i) the new registrant manufactures the model;
 - (ii) the new registrant imports the model into Australia;
 - (iii) the new registrant has an appropriate connection to the supply of the model in Australia, determined in accordance with regulations made for the purposes of this paragraph (if any); or
 - (b) the new registrant meets all other requirements specified in regulations made for the purposes of this paragraph (if any).
- Example: For paragraph (b), the regulations might require the person to be registered under a law of the Commonwealth in connection with carrying on business in Australia.
- (6) The GEMS Regulator may refuse to vary the registration if he or she is satisfied that there are grounds for refusing the application under section 66.

Division 5—When is a registration in force48 When is a registration in forceWhen registration comes into force*

- (1) A model's registration against a GEMS determination in relation to a product class comes into force at the beginning of the day after the GEMS Regulator decides to register the model against that GEMS determination in relation to that product class under subsection 43(1).

When registration ceases to be in force

- (2) A model's registration against a GEMS determination in relation to a product class ceases to be in force at the earliest of the following times:
- (a) the beginning of the day after the end of the registration period for the registration (see subsection (3));
 - (b) the beginning of the day after the registration is cancelled;
 - (c) if a replacement determination has been made that affects the registration of the model in relation to the product class—the earlier of the following:
 - (i) the beginning of the day a registration of the model against the replacement determination comes into force;
 - (ii) the beginning of the day the replacement determination comes into force.

Note: The GEMS determination against which the model is registered at the time the registration ceases to be in force may be different from that in force at the time it was originally registered (see subsection 36(2)).

Registration period—generally 5 years

- (3) For the purposes of paragraph (2)(a), the registration period for a model's registration is 5 years beginning on the day the registration comes into force (subject to subsections (4), (5) and (6)).

Section 48

Shorter registration period specified by GEMS Regulator

- (4) The registration period for a model's registration ends on an earlier day specified by the GEMS Regulator in the notice of the decision to register the model if the GEMS Regulator specifies such a day in accordance with criteria prescribed by regulations made for the purposes of this subsection.

Note: For notice of decisions on applications under this Part, see section 67.

Longer registration period—model registered before relevant determination in force

- (5) If the relevant determination against which the model is registered is a new determination within the meaning of subsection 44(2), the registration period is extended by the number of days in the period:
- (a) beginning on the day the registration comes into force; and
 - (b) ending on the day before the new determination comes into force.

Registration period—effect of suspension of registration

- (6) The registration period is extended by the number of days in any period:
- (a) beginning on a day a suspension of the registration comes into force; and
 - (b) ending on the day that suspension ceases to be in force.

Division 6—Suspending and cancelling registrations

Subdivision A—Suspending registrations

49 Suspending a model's registration

The GEMS Regulator may suspend a model's registration in relation to a product class if:

- (a) the GEMS Regulator suspects, on reasonable grounds, that:
 - (i) the model does not comply with a requirement for that product class of the GEMS determination against which the model is registered; or
 - (ii) any of the documentation or other information given to the GEMS Regulator at any time in connection with the registration was not accurate at the time it was given; or
 - (iii) changes have been made to the model so that any test results given in connection with the model's registration no longer accurately reflect the extent to which the model complies with the requirements of the GEMS determination against which the model was registered; or
 - (iv) the registrant has breached a condition of the registration or of an exemption under section 37 relating to the model; or
- (b) the GEMS Regulator is satisfied that the registrant has failed to comply with one or more of the following in relation to the model:
 - (i) section 55 (notifying GEMS Regulator of changes);
 - (ii) a notice under section 56 (giving information to GEMS Regulator);
 - (iii) a notice under section 57 (giving product of model to GEMS Regulator);
 - (iv) a notice under section 61 (requirement for registrant—testing products or cancelling registration); or

Section 50

- (c) the GEMS Regulator has, despite reasonable attempts, been unable to contact:
 - (i) any contact person for the registration; and
 - (ii) the registrant.

50 Effect of suspension

Each model covered by a suspended registration is taken to not be registered in relation to the product class while the suspension is in force.

51 When is a suspension in force

- (1) A suspension comes into force at the time notice of the suspension (the suspension notice) is given to the registrant under section 165.

Note: The registrant is taken to have been given a notice under this Act if the notice is given to a contact person for the registration (see section 68).

- (2) The suspension notice must specify a day on which the suspension ceases to be in force.

52 Conditions on suspension

- (1) The GEMS Regulator may impose conditions on a suspension in the suspension notice.
- (2) The registrant must comply with a condition of a suspension.

Note: The model's registration may be cancelled if the registrant breaches a condition of the suspension (see section 54).

53 GEMS Regulator may vary suspension notice

- (1) The GEMS Regulator may, if he or she considers it appropriate in the circumstances, vary the suspension notice to do either or both of the following:
 - (a) specify a different day on which the suspension ceases to be in force;
 - (b) impose different conditions on the suspension.

- (2) The GEMS Regulator must give the registrant a copy of the suspension notice as varied under subsection (1).

Note: The registrant is taken to have been given a notice under this Act if the notice is given to a contact person for the registration (see section 68).

- (3) Subsection (1) does not limit the application of subsection 33(3) of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 in relation to a suspension notice.

Subdivision B—Cancelling registrations

54 Cancelling a model's registration

- (1) The GEMS Regulator may cancel a model's registration in relation to a product class if the GEMS Regulator is satisfied that:
- (a) the model does not comply with a requirement for that product class of the GEMS determination against which the model is registered; or
 - (b) the registrant has failed to comply with one or more of the following in relation to the model:
 - (i) section 55 (notifying GEMS Regulator of changes);
 - (ii) a notice under section 56 (giving information to GEMS Regulator);
 - (iii) a notice under section 57 (giving product of model to GEMS Regulator);
 - (iv) a notice under section 61 (testing products or cancelling registration—belief model non-compliant); or
 - (c) any of the documentation or other information given to the GEMS Regulator at any time in connection with the registration was not accurate at the time it was given; or
 - (d) changes have been made to the model so that any test results given in connection with the model's registration no longer accurately reflect the extent to which the model complies with the requirements of the GEMS determination against which the model was registered; or
 - (e) the registrant has breached a condition of:
 - (i) the registration; or
 - (ii) a suspension of the registration; or

Section 54

- (iii) an exemption under section 37 relating to the model; or
 - (f) the registration has been suspended, and the GEMS Regulator has, despite reasonable attempts after the suspension, been unable to contact:
 - (i) any contact person for the registration; and
 - (ii) the registrant.
- (2) The GEMS Regulator must, by written notice given to the registrant, cancel a registration of a model in relation to a product class if the registrant applies for the GEMS Regulator to do so.

Note: The registrant is taken to have been given a notice under this Act if the notice is given to a contact person for the registration (see section 68).
- (3) A cancellation comes into force at a time specified in the notice given under section 165 or subsection (2) of this section that is after the notice is given.
- (4) To avoid doubt, if the registration covers more than one model, the registration is cancelled in relation to each of those models.

Division 7—Requirements for registrants

Subdivision A—Notifying GEMS Regulator of changes

55 Requirement for registrant to notify GEMS Regulator of changes

- (1) The registrant for a model's registration must inform the GEMS Regulator as soon as reasonably practicable after any of the following occurs:
 - (a) the registrant becomes aware that any of the information entered in the GEMS Register in relation to the registration is incorrect;
 - (b) circumstances have changed such that the registrant may no longer satisfy the requirements of paragraphs 43(3)(a) and (b) or 47(5)(a) and (b) (appropriate connection to supply of model and other requirements for registrant);
 - (c) the registrant decides to change a contact person for the registration, or a contact person for the registration no longer satisfies the requirements of regulations made for the purposes of subsection 42(1);
 - (d) changes have been made to the model so that any test results given in connection with the model's registration no longer accurately reflect the extent to which the model complies with the requirements of the GEMS determination against which the model was registered.
- (2) The registrant may inform the GEMS Regulator by written notice or a method specified in the regulations.

Civil penalty provision

- (3) The registrant is liable to a civil penalty if the registrant contravenes subsection (1).

Civil penalty: 60 penalty units.

Section 56

Note: It is generally not necessary to prove a person's state of mind in proceedings for a contravention of a civil penalty provision (see section 94 of the Regulatory Powers Act).

Subdivision B—Giving information relating to import, manufacture etc. of products

56 Requirement for registrant to give information relating to import, manufacture etc. of products

Giving information relating to import, manufacture etc. of products

- (1) The GEMS Regulator may give the registrant for a registration of a model in relation to a product class a written notice requiring the registrant to give the GEMS Regulator specified information relating to the manufacture, import, supply, or export of products of the model by the registrant.

Example: Information about:

- (a) the number of products of the model manufactured in, imported into, supplied in, or exported from, Australia by the registrant during a specified period; or
 - (b) whether the registrant has ceased manufacturing, importing, supplying or exporting products of the model in, into or from Australia.
- (2) The GEMS Regulator may require the registrant to give the specified information on a periodic basis.

Matters to be included in notice

- (3) A notice under subsection (1) must also specify the following matters:
- (a) the day on which the notice is given;
 - (b) the name of the registrant;
 - (c) the model of the GEMS product;
 - (d) that the information must be given:
 - (i) within 14 days after the notice is given, or within such longer period as is specified in the notice; or

- (ii) if the information is to be given on a periodic basis—before the time or times worked out in accordance with the notice;
 - (e) that the GEMS Regulator may suspend the registration under section 49, or cancel the registration under section 54, if the registrant does not comply with the notice.
- (4) A notice under subsection (1) must set out the effect of sections 137.1 and 137.2 of the Criminal Code (false or misleading information or documents).
- (5) This section only applies in relation to a registrant if the registrant is a constitutional corporation.

Subdivision C—Giving product of registered model to GEMS Regulator

57 Requirement for registrant to give product—determining whether model complies with GEMS determination

Giving product of registered model

- (1) The GEMS Regulator may give the registrant for a registration of a model in relation to a product class a written notice requiring the registrant to give a product of that model to a specified GEMS inspector.
- (2) The power under subsection (1) may only be exercised:
 - (a) for the purpose of determining whether the model complies with the GEMS determination against which the model is registered; and
 - (b) if the GEMS Regulator is satisfied that it would not be practical for a GEMS inspector or person authorised to test
GEMS products in that product class to purchase the product.

Matters to be included in notice

- (3) A notice under subsection (1) must also specify the following
matters:

Section 58

- (a) the day on which the notice is given;
 - (b) the name of the registrant;
 - (c) the model of the GEMS product;
 - (d) the manner in which the GEMS product is to be provided;
 - (e) that the product must be given within 14 days after the notice is given, or within such longer period as is specified in the notice;
 - (f) that the GEMS Regulator may suspend the registration under section 49, or cancel the registration under section 54, if the registrant does not comply with the notice.
- (4) A notice under subsection (1) must set out the effect of sections 137.1 and 137.2 of the Criminal Code (false or misleading information or documents).

Notice not a legislative instrument

- (5) A notice under subsection (1) is not a legislative instrument.

58 Requirement for registrant to give product—retention and return of product

Retention etc. of product

- (1) If a product is given to a GEMS inspector in accordance with a requirement under subsection 57(1), the GEMS inspector:
- (a) may take possession of the product; and
 - (b) may retain the product (but see subsection (2) of this section); and
 - (c) must provide a receipt for the product.

Note: The product may be tested under section 126.

Return of product

- (2) The GEMS Regulator must take reasonable steps to return the product to the registrant or a contact person for the registration when the earliest of the following happens:

- (a) it is no longer necessary to retain the product for the purposes of determining whether the model complies with the GEMS determination against which it is registered;
- (b) it is decided that the product is not to be used in evidence;
- (c) the 6-month period after the product was given to the GEMS Regulator ends.

Exception to requirement to return product

- (3) Subsection (2):
 - (a) is subject to any contrary order of a court; and
 - (b) does not apply if the product:
 - (i) is forfeited or forfeitable to the Commonwealth; or
 - (ii) is the subject of a dispute as to ownership.
- (4) The GEMS Regulator is not required to take reasonable steps to return the product because of subsection (2) if:
 - (a) proceedings in respect of which the product may afford evidence were instituted before the end of 6 months after the product was given to the GEMS Regulator, and have not been completed (including an appeal to a court in relation to those proceedings); or
 - (b) the product may continue to be retained because of an order under section 59; or
 - (c) the Commonwealth or the GEMS Regulator is otherwise authorised (by a law, or an order of a court, of the Commonwealth or of a State or Territory) to retain, destroy, dispose of or otherwise deal with the product.

59 Requirement for registrant to give product—issuing officer may permit product to be retained

- (1) The GEMS Regulator may apply to an issuing officer for an order permitting the retention of a product given in accordance with subsection 57(1) for a further period if proceedings in respect of which the product may afford evidence have not commenced before the end of:

Section 59

- (a) 6 months after the product was given; or
 - (b) a period previously specified in an order of an issuing officer under this section.
- (2) Before making the application, the GEMS Regulator must:

- (1) A law of a State or Territory may confer powers or functions, or impose duties, on the GEMS Regulator.

Note: Section 74 sets out when such a law imposes a duty on the GEMS Regulator.

- (2) Subsection (1) does not authorise the conferral of a power or function, or the imposition of a duty, by a law of a State or Territory to the extent to which:

Commonwealth legislative power sufficient to support duty but State or Territory legislative powers are not

- (3) If, to ensure the validity of the purported imposition of the duty, it is necessary that the duty be imposed by a law of the Commonwealth (rather than by the law of the State or Territory), the duty is taken to be imposed by this Act to the extent necessary to ensure that validity.
- (4) If, because of subsection (3), this Act is taken to impose the duty, it is the intention of the Parliament to rely on all powers available to it under the Constitution to support the imposition of the duty by this Act.
- (5) The duty is taken to be imposed by this Act in accordance with subsection (3) only to the extent to which imposing the duty:
- (a) is within the legislative powers of the Commonwealth; and
 - (b) is consistent with the constitutional doctrines restricting the duties that may be imposed on the GEMS Regulator.
